MESSAGE FROM THE HEAD (CDOE)

We are living through a time rightly defined as a brittle, anxious, non-linear, and incomprehensible (BANI) environment, given the ever-increasing policy dysfunction, misgovernance, and uncertainty caused by technological and natural disruptions. The global landscape of trade, technology, and tariffs is shifting rapidly, shaped by the interplay of economic coercion, regulatory nationalism, and strategic rivalries among major powers. In such an environment, executive education is not just desirable—it is indispensable.

The MBA (IB) Online Programme 2025-2027, offered by the Indian Institute of Foreign Trade (IIFT) through its Centre for Distance and Online Education (CDOE), is designed precisely for such times. It equips professionals with the analytical depth, policy awareness, and cross-country managerial insights necessary to navigate the evolving global terrain. Building on managerial fundamentals such as the understanding of organizations, technology, environment, and global processes, the course progresses to advanced themes—comprehending the impact of export controls on supply chains, decoding tariff retaliation, and leveraging new economic corridors and digital trade protocols. The program addresses contemporary challenges head-on.

Our curriculum draws upon IIFT's deep institutional strength in international business, trade diplomacy, and geo-economic strategy. More importantly, it empowers participants to convert threats into opportunities by refining their understanding of global trends and fostering adaptive capabilities. This program encourages critical thinking, builds strategic foresight, and develops leadership resilience—qualities that are crucial for professionals seeking to shape global conversations and drive sustainable growth.

I invite you to join this transformative learning journey with IIFT and become part of a network of forward-looking global professionals who are not just reacting to the world—but helping to shape it.

Welcome to the world of online learning at IIFT, New Delhi.
